NEW YORK - June 11, 2018 - PRLog -- After the success of his bestselling book, Ask Angelo: An Inside Look at the Entertainment Industry from a PR Guru, Angelo Ellerbee's sophomore self-help book, The Sense of Success, will accompany a signature line of relaxing candles under the Ellerbee Elegance (www.ellerbeeelegance.com) (<http://www.ellerbeeelegance.com>) label. A launch soiree will be held at Mr. Chow (NY) on June 28, 6-9PM, hosted by legendary singer Dionne Warwick and prolific songwriter and producer, James Mtume along with many invited celebrity friends to celebrate 47 years of Angelo's public relations magic.

Sense of Success book and candle will be available on June 28 on Amazon and EllerbeeElegance.com.

Angelo Ellerbee is the founder and CEO of Double XXposure Media Relations, a full-service public relations, marketing and artist development firm. Ellerbee's client roster is deep and diverse, including the likes of Michael Jackson Dionne Warwick, Roberta Flack, Nina Simone, Mary J. Blige, Alicia Keys, and DMX. Renowned in his field for over 46 years, he is currently setting his cap on winning over new audiences in the home décor arena along with publishing. Offering a unique styling and scent, the candles are set to appeal to those who prize a signature atmosphere to their home/office décor. Designed as an aromatherapy stress reliever, the chic candles will be bundled with the book on Amazon, as well as individually sold.

Available on Amazon and at various bookstores, both the book and candles will fill the air with the scents and sensations curated by success offered by the Ellerbee Elegance line. The candle line is intended to add the perfect ambiance when curling up with Ellerbee's latest collection of witty and wise inspirational steps to achieving goals. The Sense of Success helps readers charge past obstacles with the encouragement to 'breathe in the aroma of success' as an exercise in willpower. The PR Guru to the stars returns with another honest, motivational collection of mentoring support. Each page offers sage guidance from someone who has been there and lived through enough ups and down to deliver true tricks of the game.

"The aroma of Success is something tangible to me like a sixth sense. It is subtle, but down inside everyone. I call it a God-given extrasensory perception of the desire for achievement. When you are excelling, the aroma, or scent of success, is like a breeze or breath of fresh air that others can get from you. Basically, I wanted readers to understand success is another one of their senses, that when focused on, can be used as a tool just like vision or touch to perceive life better," says Angelo.

An exclusive invite-only media soiree is set for June 28 at Mr. Chow (NYC). The luxe gathering will give media guests a chance to experience and relax in the ambient vibes the candles and inspirational book will offer. Lectures and tours are scheduled throughout the remainder of 2018, with many colleges, local bookstores, library reader clubs and business conventions bookings.
